THE HOMESTEAD AFFAIR

The Strikers Who Returned to Work Threatened With Terrible Punishment.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 29.—Of the total number of Homestead strikers who have returned to work in the mill, about 125, it is said every man received terrible warnings of dire punishment if he does not quit work at once. The men on going home have found sand bags tied to their doors every morning for a week past, and requests and warnings have been hung on the front knobs. They have received letters through the mails which contain blood thirsty threats of punishment for deserting the ranks of the strikers. In addition to this, committees of strikers have approached each man and personally warned him of his peril in remaining at work. These threats have been reported to the Carnegie officials, who have promised protection inside and outside the works. The strikers have driven six foremen out of the best paying departments in the Homestead mill. The men earned about $12 a day each. They were told to leave off work under pain of being violently dealt with, but they stayed for a week. Then when one of them was caught outside the mill he was severely beaten, and he and two others were told they would be murdered if they did not leave. The foremen left on Monday, and were given by the officials ten days in which to return or their fat positions would be forfeited. Two returned, but they came a day late and were not employed.

The Rev. Mrs. Amanda Deyo, Universal peace commissioner of Scranton, Pa., who came here as a representative of the Universal Peace union to settle the Homestead strike, will return to her home this morning and the strike will go on. The attempt of the peace commissioners was futile. She secured, however, from all the Amalgamated association leaders, including President Weihe, a statement that they were willing to leave to a tribunal all questions at issue except the date of expiration of scales, which must remain at June 30, but the Carnegie officials asserted they had nothing to arbitrate. Mrs. Deyo went to Homestead again yesterday and talked with the strikers. They, too, favored submission of the trouble to a tribunal. Mrs. Deyo said Beiva Lockwood has written her, offering to act as an arbitrator.

A bulletin issued by Surgeon Litchfield at 9 o'clock this morning says: "Mr. Frick passed a comfortable night and is resting easy." But Mr. Frick is doing more than that. He is now almost well. His wounds are nearly healed and there is no trace of inflammation, nor has suppuration been noticed. He eats heartily, reads voraciously and sits propped up in bed. Daily the heads of departments report to him and practically the wounded chairman directs the conduct of the enormous Carnegie business. The gas retorts in the Carnegie city union mills were started this morning and will increase in pressure until the mill is ready to start. There are about 150 machinists and repairers making repairs to both plants, which are nearly finished and when Superintendent Dillon gives the word, both mills will be operated. Meanwhile the strikers stand idly by, and the company is prepared to fill both mills with non-union men at short notice. Enough more non-union men are on the Homestead last night and this morning to increase the number there to 900. This morning the tug boat Tide took seventy-five men up the river to the Homestead mills. There have been no other departments started, but the entire plant, with the exception of a couple of slab mills, is doing business single turn. Supt. of Police Roger Omara, will make no further charges against Anarchist Frederick Mollick, arrested at Long Branch, as an accomplice of Assassin Berkman. He says the charge is sufficient to hold him. The superintendent ridicules the attempt to arrest him for kidnapping Mollick by what he calls "two cheap lawyers." He has the authority of the city of Pittsburg, and he says Mollick came willingly. Besides this the prisoner was not in his custody until after they crossed the Pennsylvania line, being in that of a reporter. No further arrests of anarchists were made here this morning, but the police are vigilant. A search in Henry Bauer's rooms has revealed a pocket book containing letters from August Spies, Nina Van Zandt, John Most and other information and names found which will be used as evidence. Bauer's possessions show him to be a member of the inner circles of anarchista. The police have a photograph, discovered in Bauer's room, of a man who was with Berkman just before the tragedy occurred in Mr. Frick's office. Berkman has made no further admissions in jail. It is said he will be defended by a fund to be raised among his New York friends.

TWO EMPLOYMENT AGENTS MOBBED.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 29.—Two employment agents, supposed to be representing the Carnegie Steel company, were mobbed by workmen on South Diamond street last night. They had collected a crowd of mill men, idle because the iron scale has not been signed, and promised good wages for work on a new railroad, not located. A rumor started that the agents were getting men for Homestead, and so enraged the mill men that they madly set upon the solicitors and gave them severe punishment. A detail of police was called and suppressed the riot.

There was another conference today of the joint scale committee of the Amalgamated association and iron manufacturers. The latter made a proposition that the men resume work at the old scale, leaving the present troubles in question to arbitration, subject to the voice of all members of the association, as to whether arbitration would settle it or not. The manufacturers said they were willing to wait for two weeks for a reply to their proposition. The conference was therefore adjourned for two weeks.

NON-UNION MEN THREATENED.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 29.—Several incidents occurred recently going to show the temper of the locked-out steel workers, and makes plain the fact that the condition of affairs is not entirely changed. The withdrawal of so many troops has given some of the hot-headed men among the workmen an idea that they now have more liberty to forcibly prevent the coming of non-union men to the works. The "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Strangers" is again transacting business. Forty-five non-union men were placed in the Homestead works this morning. The twenty-three inch mill was started today and men are being familiarized with the workings of the cogging and new beam mills, preparatory to starting them. Many of the non-union men in the mill have received letters, threatening them with personal violence unless they leave the employ of the Carnegie company. This morning the following notice was found inside the works:

"HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 29.—Notice: All non-union men desiring to leave Carnegie's works without delay will be provided for by the union men of Homestead, but all who stay at work will seek his God. All are being spotted. Beware!"

THE EXTREME HEAT

Still Continues and Causes Many Deaths all Over the Country.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 29.—The mercury today has dropped three points. At 10 o'clock this morning it was 88 degrees on the street. About fifteen cases of prostration from heat were reported yesterday, with one death.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 29.—The general humidity today is greater than any other time this week, although at 9 a. m. the thermometer did not indicate as high a temperature as at the same hour on preceding days. The thermometer at that hour registered 87° in the shade. Yesterday afternoon two workmen in the Syracuse Tube works were overcome by the heat and are in a precarious condition. At Lyons, Theodore Clump, a stoker in the Manhattan Silver-plate works, was overcome by the heat yesterday and died within an hour. George Morshelmer, a farm laborer, living near Lyons, also died last night from the effects of a sunstroke.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 29.—Unless the predicted cold wave arrives before night the weather today will beat all previous records. At 10 o'clock the temperature was 88°, the highest of the week for that hour. Yesterday's maximum temperature was within one degree of the highest of the week.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 29.—Ninety degrees in the shade is what the thermometer registered here at 11 o'clock this morning.

BOSTON, July 29.—The weather this morning is clear and warm, temperature about 80°; of considerable humidity; no breeze moving.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 29.—At 11 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 86°, but the heat is tempered by a breeze.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The excessively warm weather in this city continues. At 10 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 92 with the humidity at 66 and the indications are unless the scheduled cold way arrives, today will be as hot, if not hotter, than yesterday, when the maximum theremometer at 4 p. m. registered 98 in the shade. Five deaths from the heat occurred in Bellevue hospital during the night, which, added to eight during the day, makes a total of thirteen deaths for twenty-four hours. Several cases of prostration by the heat were reported to the police this morning.

NEWARK, N. J., July 29.—Last night was the hottest of the week and thus far today the thermometer is ahead of its former record. Three persons died of the heat in the lower portion of the city last night.

Colonel Watterson Improving.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Colonel Watterson is still unable to see anyone at the Richelieu hotel. The clerk has been instructed not to allow cards or messages to be sent to his rooms. The physician announced this morning that he had passed a quiet night and that he was somewhat better today. It is extremely doubtful, however, whether Mr. Watterson can keep his engagement to talk on the tariff question at Madison, Wis., this afternoon.

Supposed Incendiary.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 29.—An incendiary fire at Dardanelle, Ark., yesterday destroyed Golden & Co.'s grocery store and F. V. White's shop and ice house, together with several other buildings. The total loss is $50,000; insurance, $34,000.

Ex-Governor Hardin Dead.

MEXICO, Mo., July 29.—Ex-Governor C. H. Hardin died at his home in this city at 9 o'clock this morning. Governor Hardin had been ill for some time and his death was not unexpected.

James Shelly was arrested by Policeman Rohrer for drunkenness last night. He was sent to jail. Harry Phillips and Mamie Keller, for illicit companionship, were arrested on Superior street by Policeman Harkenrider and were also sent to jail.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 29.—President Frenzel, of the street railway company, discharged S. P. Riggs, secretary of the brotherhood, Wednesday, on the alleged charge of dishonesty in reporting fares. The accusation was made by a spotter, supposed to be a Pinkerton detective. Riggs indignantly denies the charges. He has been in the service of the company for many years, and was active in the last strike. It is generally accepted that the Frenzel management is anxious to be rid of him because of his influence in the brotherhood. A meeting of the brotherhood began this morning at 1 o'clock and it is not improbable there will be another strike today. The public, as before, is in sympathy with the brotherhood. A committee attempted to see Mr. Frenzel yesterday but he refused to be seen, though the basis of the last settlement included an agreement that men discharged should first have a trial.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The Cook County Delegates Meet and Adopt a Platform.

CHICAGO, July 29.—The Cook county convention of the people's party was held at Uhlich's hall last night. Mrs. Lucy Parsons and a few other women were among the 246 delegates. Chris. O'Brien was appointed temporary chairman. In his speech he referred to the Homestead riot as an invasion of a peaceable town by a "mob of thugs, thieves and boarding house loafers for the purpose of driving peaceable citizens from their homes." Dixon, the permanent chairman, scored the press for having, as he said, vilified the people's party in the past. He said that while the people's party discovered ten years ago that the Pinkertons should be done away with, other parties and the press had just awakened to the fact. He made the charge that Chicagoians who have capital are paying proportionately only one-tenth the taxes the commoner has been to pay. The platform adopted denounces the Pinkertons and indorses union labor.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

Charles Stout Attacked and Stamped to Death by Robert Frazier.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., July 29.—At Retto Wednesday night, Robert Frazier attacked Charles Stout and stamped him to death. Stout, it was alleged, had circulated a slanderous story about Frazier, and the latter approached Stout and remarked that he had a settlement to make with him. All at once he struck Stout, and knocked him down on the floor, where he jumped upon him with his feet, stamping him in the breast, head and face in the most vicious manner. His victim did not regain consciousness. Frazier is still at large. Both are well known farmers.

A BIG BLAZE.

The Lumber Town of Sisson, Cala., Partly Destroyed.

SISSON, Cala., July 29.—For two hours yesterday afternoon fire raged in this town, which lies at the foot of Mount Shasta. Sisson is a lumbering town, with one main street lined by cheap wooden buildings, which melted under the flames like houses of cards. One building was blown up by dynamite and this checked the flames. Otherwise the town would have been destroyed. As it was one-third of the village, including the principal business blocks and a dozen or more dwellings were burned entailing a loss of $75,000.

A SENATOR OVERCOME.

The Intense Heat Prostrates Senator Coquille.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Senator Coquille was overcome by the heat last Wednesday while visiting some of the down town departments. He was taken to his residence and for a long time his condition was regarded as critical. He improved somewhat and last night was resting comfortably, although his physician does not regard him as wholly out of danger. Should he recover sufficiently by the last of the week he will be removed to his home in Atlanta.

A PAIR OF BANTAMS

Will Have a Fistic Encounter for a Large Purse.

NEW YORK, July 29.—George Dixon, the champion bantam weight of the world, was matched last night to fight Jack Skelly, of Brooklyn, before the Olympic club, of New Orleans, for a purse of $7,500 and a wager of $5,000 a side, September 6. The men are to weigh 118 pounds on the afternoon of the contest.

A DESPERATE FIGHT

And Both Participants are Now Numbered Among the Dead.

SOMERSET, Ky., July 29.—A desperate fight occurred at Flat Rock, in this county, Wednesday afternoon, between Deputy Sheriff Sellers and John Coffey, in which both were killed. Sellers attempted to arrest Coffey on a charge of adultery when the trouble began.

Attempted Jail Delivery.

BOSTON, July 28.—An unsuccessful attempt was made by seven convicts to escape from the state prison yesterday. When discovered they had succeeded in prying off a bar from one of the windows.

The Canadian Canal Toll Question.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 29.—It was learned last night on good authority that a meeting of the cabinet will be called for the purpose of further considering the canal tolls question. It is understood that the system of rebates will be abolished altogether and uniform tolls, without regard to routes, imposed. Some of the ministers favor the abolition of tolls altogether.

A BULL FIGHT

In Which Americans are Spectators, at San Luis Potosi, Mexico, Results Fatally to Two Participants.

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico, July 29.—A sickening accident occurred here Wednesday night at a bull fight witnessed by gas-light in the new ring, near the limits of the city. There were fully 5,000 people present, among them being a number of American ladiy and gentlemen tourists. The matador, Alberto Limertura, was in the act of giving the third bull a fatal thrust with his short sword, when he slipped and fell. The frenzied bull had him on his horns in a moment and was goring him ferociously when three of the banderilleros rushed to the rescue. They flaunted their scarlet cloaks in front of the bull a number of times without attracting his attention from the fallen matador. Suddenly he charged upon one of the banderilleros, overtook him and caught him upon the sharp points of his horns, which penetrated entirely through the man's body. The crowd was wild with excitement, the Mexicans cheering the bull for its grand fighting qualities, and when the bugle sounded the call for the lassoers to come in and throw the mad animal to be killed, the spectators protested vehemently against such action. The dead body of the banderillero remained on the bull's horns until the animal was killed. Limertura, the matador, died while being removed from the ring. The performance was then stopped by the police authorities.

The eighth annual reunion of the Sixty-ninth Indiana regiment will be held at Muncie Thursday, August 25. Every effort is being put forth to make this the most successful reunion the regiment has ever held. Those who intend to go please notify the secretary, A. F. Collins, promptly.

A severe thunder storm passed through Montpelier early yesterday, doing considerable damage to timber and buildings. The large and handsome barn belonging to Farmer Jacob Miller, was struck by lightning and the entire west end was demolished, but the lightning did not ignite the contents of which the barn was filled, consisting of hay, wheat, etc.; fully insured.

The Railway Carmen held a most enthusiastic and profitable open meeting at K. of. L. hall Saturday night. Notwithstanding the extreme heat, there was a good attendance. The features of the meeting were the addresses delivered, the speakers, present on invitation, being A. J. You, George Japp, James A. Reilley and O. H. Ballard. The Railway Carmen are a worthy lot of men, progressive, and never do anything by halves.

The Monroeville Breeze says: "Chas. McGovern, of near Fort Wayne, was the guest of his aged mother this week.—Rev. Markley, of Fort Wayne, delivered a very able discourse to a large congregation at the M. E. church Sunday evening last.—Miss Emma Straus, of Fort Wayne, was the guest of her cousins, the Misses Lena and Carrie Straus, over Sunday last, returning home Tuesday morning.—Attorney A. A. Purman and family, of Fort Wayne, was the guest of his aged mother, Grandma Purman, Sunday last.—Samuel Hatch, of Fort Wayne, was the guest of Miss Luna Buchanan, Sunday last."

INTENSE HEAT

FRANKFORT, Ind., July 29.—Today is governor's day at Camp Chase. Great preparations have been made to receive the governor and entertain him.

The city of Frankfort has been handsomely decorated and the town will be "opened" even more than it is at present. Many of the companies will have large crowds of visitors at their messes today, as the railroads are giving excursion rates. Many men who are really sick do not report themselves as sick and go about in a condition unfit for duty. The artillery regiment is the healthiest regiment in camp. Their hospital tent is used as a store house only. One man in the regiment is sick and he was hurt by a falling horse. The terrible heat has mostly affected the Second regiment. At one drill men dropped out of line like they were being shot in line of battle. All are doing pretty well. The one most affected was out of his mind, imagining he heard the bugle calling the company to drill. One boy was seen limping about in true soldier position with his crippled leg in the sling of his gun.

The healthful condition of the camp is largely due to the investigations of the medical inspector.

Captain Edens, of the Twenty-second regiment, is to be highly complimented by his timely and vigorous action of calling the guard and arresting two men, one a Kokomo tough, and the other a colored servant, for fighting. The fight was the outcome of a game of "craps." The captain seemed to be the only officer present who knew his duty. Some of the boys behaved so badly in town that General Buckle sent the provost patrol under Major Robbins, of the Twenty-second regiment, to the city, and in a short space of time cleared the place of disorderly soldiers.

The mounted platoon drill of the artillery still continues to draw large crowds of visitors, while the infantry drill also attracts a numerous assembly. Last night there were no less than fifty soldiers of the legion suffering from sun stroke, received while on dress parade. General Buckle is hearing down pretty hard on the boys, the discipline being very rigid, especially since Tuesday. There is brewing a friendly rivalry between the five bands of music and the result promises to be interesting.

A REPUBLICAN SCHEME.

They Want the Laws Amended and Senators Unseated.

MADISON, Wis., July 29.—Col. George W. Bird and ex-Attorney-General C. P. Estabrook returned yesterday from Chicago, where they have been in consultation with Senator Spooner. Col. Bird stated last night that it has been definitely decided to test the constitutionality of the recent democratic apportionment of the state, and that the paper will be served on the attorney general tomorrow. The papers will be simply in the form of a petition from a private citizen asking the attorney general to institute action. If the attorney general refuses action will be commenced in the name of the citizen himself. That this can be done the decision of the supreme court in the recent gerrymander case has definitely decided. It is probable that another action will be brought later on to have the seats of the hold-over senators declared vacant.

LORD SPENCER

LONDON, July 29.—The portion of the Althrop library which Lord Spencer has been obliged by his circumstances to dispose of was sold yesterday at private sale to at Englishman, whose name has not yet been learned and who will, it is understood, dispose of the books at public auction. The portion of the library sold is the latter part of the collection, which is said to be no surpassed in value and excellence. It includes the contents of a square room at the south end of the Althrop house, which has given the library its world-wide fame. It is said that there never has been in England a private collection of books equal to it. The collection includes fifty-seven Caxtons, 600 Aldines, block books, early Bibles, first editions of the Greek and Latin classics, etc., and the beginning of printing in Holland, Germany, Italy and Flanders. Lord Spencer has been forced to part with the treasures by the decline in the rental value of his estate, which has seriously impaired his income.

WYOMING'S REGULATORS.

It is Expected that Only the Leaders Will be Held for Murder.

LARAMIE, Wyo., July 29.—There are the best of reasons for believing all the prisoners detained here who were concerned in the Johnson county invasion, with the exception of about eight, will never be tried on the charge of murdering Nate Champion. The cases against thirty-five of the men will be nolle pressed and only the organizers and leaders of the expedition will be called before the bar. These thirty-five will comprise mostly the hired army. It is expected that the prisoners will be taken to Cheyenne tomorrow.

Election Matters Abroad.

LONDON, July 29.—The returns from the election in Orkney and Shetland islands, received today, completes the new parliament. The liberals, as was expected, carried the day, Mr. Leonard Lyell, liberal, a son of the late Sir Charles Lyell, the geologist, being re-elected by a vote of 2,617 to 1,674 for W. Younger, liberal-unionist. The result in Orkney and Shetland leaves Mr. Gladstone with forty majority for a vote on "no confidence." In Lord Salisbury's ministry this majority includes liberals, labor, anti-Parnellites and Parnellites.

LAFAYETTE CHOSEN.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., July 29.—The Grand Army committee to locate a state soldiers' home arrived in this city last midnight and was received by the local committee and quartered in the Lake house. At 8 o'clock this morning the Lafayette committee took the state committee in carriages to view four sites in this vicinity. The battle ground camp meeting site, which would embrace all the buildings and lands nearly surrounding the Tippecanoe battle ground, was the first. Another site, almost equally as historical, was the land embracing a portion of Colonel Dehart's land, on the Tecumseh trail. The other two sites were nearer the city. It took nearly all day for the committee to make a careful inspection of the lands offered, and as much of it was covered with forest and necessitated much hard walking, the committee is pretty well worn out. The local committee escorting the committee was as follows: J. M. Reynolds, Col. John Levering, E. C. Blake, James Murdock, Col. William Taylor, Cyrenus Johnson, Henry Tinney, S. C. Curtis, B. Calhihan, Colonel Robinson and Col. C. G. Thompson. Among the prominent citizens who went with the party were Major McGinley, Col. R. P. Dehart, J. B. Shaw, A. S. McCormick, W. P. Younkey, Jacob E. Wry, Job Sims, Sheriff Gaddis, J. S. Robinson, W. R. Wood, G. P. Haywood, Maj. Wm. Taylor, N. I. Throckmorton, Mortimer Lovering and E. W. Moore.

At noon a much-appreciated spread was served on the grounds of Colonel Dehart. It was 5 o'clock when the committee returned to the city on the steamer, and 6 o'clock after the beautiful grounds of Purdue University were examined and the party returned to the hotel. Every citizen of Lafayette is entirely confident that Lafayette is the most beautiful spot in the world, that Tippecanoe county is the garden spot of the world, and if the outsider should tarry with these Lafayette citizens a few days and listen to the eloquence of Colonels Lovering, Dehart and Thompson he would find himself drifting into their views.

The committe, after hearing the parties, went into executive session to decide the location. The subject was fully canvassed and every offer weighed. After one or two votes showing the sentiment of the committe, it was unanimously decided to accept the offer which the committee designated as "Tecumseh trail," in Lafayette. This site is about three miles from the city, and involves about 150 acres of land, as well as $6,500 in money and fifty-five acres of land owned by the city, which can be sold. It was midnight when the decision was reached. Several committees were chosen to carry out the vote of acceptance. The committee passed a vote of thanks to the citizens of Lafayette and the officers of the Big Four railroad for courtesies extended, and at 2:30 a. m. adjourned.

Mysterious Poisoning Solved.

AMESBURY, Mass., July 29.—Dr. Cooper, of this place, has made an analysis of water taken from the well at the Cable house, Seabury Beach, where the inmates were poisoned.

He found that the water contained a large percentage of chloride of ammonia, nigates and other organic matter. This seems to explain the cause of wholesale poisoning at the Cable house.

The Fatalities in New York.

NEW YORK, July 29.—George D. Darthols, aged sixty-five years, jumped from a window in the Presbyterian hospital and was almost instantly killed at 3 o'clock this morning.

Samuel Knight, aged forty-five, a manufacturer of shoe uppers, residing at No. 8 West Fourteenth street, jumped out of a third story window of his residence early this morning and was instantly killed.

LOCAL LINES.

Miss Anna Fronefield, of Van Wert, Ohio, is the guest of Miss Clara Fisher, of Lakeside.

Pat McCarty, of Huntington, attended the funeral of the late John H. Trentman in this city this morning.

Huntington Democrat: "Richard Gardner, Wm. Freel and Wm. Morgan went to Fort Wayne today to move a large building."

A mass convention of the people's party of Allen county will be held in the circuit court room, Fort Wayne, at 10 o'clock a. m. Saturday, August 13th, 1892, for the purpose of placing in nomination a full county ticket.

A very pleasant coaching party was participated in by a few young people of this city last evening. They went out to New Haven, where an elegant supper was spread for them. Those attending were: Misses Nora Gillilon, Anna Empie, Stella McQueen, Lizzie Empie and Messrs. Ed. Hynman, Ad. Lalimoyer, Lloyd Harris and Hugh Fisher.

THE REAPER'S WORK.

The Remains of the Late George W. Fishering Taken to Allegheny for Interment—Other Deaths.

Rev. S. A. Northrop conducted a short funeral service over the remains of the late George W. Fishering at the residence on Lake avenue at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The remains were then conveyed to the undertaking establishment of J. C. Peltier, where they were embalmed. At 7:55 last evening they were placed on the Pittsburg limited and taken to Allegheny City, where the funeral took place this afternoon, interment being in the family lot in the Allegheny City cemetery. Mrs. Fishering, the bereaved wife, on account of ill health, was not able to accompany the remains to Pennsylvania. John and Henry Fishering, brothers of the deceased; F. B. Jenkinson, of Richmond, brother of Mrs. Fishering, and Dr. J. H. Adams accompanied the remains. Mrs. Fishering expects to make her home with her mother and brother Frank, at Richmond, and if her health will admit, she will go to that city tomorrow. Mrs. Fishering, nee Hattie Jenkinson, was for years a most lovely lady in the D. N. Foster's furniture store, and she has a wide acquaintance in Fort Wayne. She will sell her Lakeside home, if possible.

Albert Schoenbein, for many years draughtsman in the master mechanic's office of the Pennsylvania company, in this city, and a pioneer resident of Allen county, died yesterday at Allegheny, Pa., after an illness of a short time. He left this city twelve years ago to accept a more elevated position with the Pennsylvania company at Allegheny. His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alice Schoenbein, of this city, yesterday noon received the sad news. The remains will be brought to this city for interment, arriving here at 5 o'clock tomorrow evening. The time of the funeral services has not yet been announced. Notice of the same will be given in the Sunday morning papers.

The remains of the late George W. Fishering were shipped to Allegheny, Pa., last evening for interment.

The funeral of Patrick Lanyer will occur at St. Mary's Catholic church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

The remains of John H. Trentman arrived from Dayton, Ohio, this morning. The body was taken direct from the train to the St. Mary's church, where funeral services were held. The friends of the deceased, who knew him as one of Fort Wayne's well known and worthy citizens, attended the obsequies. The interment was at the Catholic cemetery.

A GIANT FEDERATION.

A Rumor That the Five Powerful Orders of Railway Employes Are to Organize Under One Body.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 29.—A morning paper says: "The coming week will, in all probability, witness the formation of the most powerful labor organization in America, with St. Louis as its birth place. This organization is nothing more nor less than the federation of the five orders of railway employes, and insures the welcome appearance of in the neighborhood of 125,000 railroad men operating the transportation department of every road in the United States and Canada. The orders that will be included in the federation are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman, the Order of Railway Conductors, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The strength of the federation can be imagined when it is known that there are 30,000 members of the conductors' order, 25,000 firemen, 25,000 engineers, 20,000 trainmen and 21,000 switchmen that will be included in the membership of the organization. The initial steps toward the formation of this stupendous agregation of railway employes have already been taken and are heartily sanctioned by the members of the several orders that will be numbered in its fold."

IN THE old country the school children are early given lessons in economy. Penny savings banks are connected with the public schools of Belgium and 170,000 of the 600,000 primary pupils have deposited over one-half million francs. Great Britain has also established the penny banks.

THE eighteenth annual convention of the Catholic Young Men's National Union will meet at Albany, N. Y., on August 16 and 17. Rev. James F. Laughlin, the president, and C. A. Webber, secretary, have issued a circular for the information and guidance of those attending the convention.

ALL BRANCHES of skilled labor in Wabash have been unionized except the machinists, who will, within a fortnight, unionize. There are now over 600 union men in Wabash, and the union wage scale and hours of labor are religiously observed. THIS is what a congregation of insects is reported to have done in the "far west." Just before a thunder shower at Hillsboro, Ore., one night last week, millions of large insects gathered about the electric light, completely surrounding the one at the corner of Main and Second streets and putting out the light. Pedestrians were struck in the face by the frantic insects, and the entire brick building on the corner was covered with them. Where they came from and where they went to is a mystery.

NATURE does not grow green flowers. Florists have made many ineffectual attempts to produce green roses. Some years ago a statement went the rounds of the papers to the effect that an eastern florist, by the use of chemical fertilizers, had produced roses with green petals, but the report was never verified. A green rose would be of no value were it produced. The beauty of a rose lies in the difference between its color and the plant's leaves, and green roses could scarcely be distinguished from so many leaves.

CONSIDERABLE comment has been caused through Oklahoma by legal opinions rendered by Judge John I. Dillie and other prominent lawyers of the territory, that Indians will be entitled to vote at the coming elections. They say that the law provided that Indians taking lands in severalty have the same franchise as any citizen, and if this opinion is good law, the candidates will have 3,000 Indians to hustle for votes. If the Indians vote it is liable to make quite a difference in the congressional race.

EVEN the cows have filed a protest against the continuation of this hot weather by refusing to give their usual quantity of milk. As a result many dairymen in the large cities in the city are put to great inconvenience in supplying their customers. So far they have been successful in getting what milk is required for the trade by shipping from numerous towns throughout the country. But the supply is daily growing smaller and unless the weather bureau gives cooler weather soon, or the cows relent, Fort Wayne people will be confronted with a milk famine.

A FARMER party is a pleasant entertainment for a cool evening in summer. Each guest is given a faggot and as it burns he tells a story that must be as long, and if he can, as bright as the blazing wood. A bright woman who gave a delightful luncheon the other day, requested each guest to bring some curio, or heirloom, and the interesting loan collection brought together with the legends relating to them provided most interesting entertainment. Old spoons, old love-letters, old slippers and miniatures were among the relics brought from retirement.

Mehitabel's mother had objected to Israel as "a shiftless lad," and Mehitabel, being a dutiful daughter, has gone on being a sister to him all this half-century. Last month old Mrs. Holmes died, and as Mehitabel's other relatives had no deep-seated objection to Israel, who has amassed a fortune in the lumber business, while he loved and waited his sweetheart said the word that is to make him a happy man.

COMMON COUNCIL.

A Resolution Passes to Dispense With Any Further Street Improvements This Season.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were read and referred to committee on streets.

By Michael.

Resolved (I. 1.) That the alley between Washington street and Jefferson street, from Clinton street to Barr street, to a width of 11 feet be graded and paved with 12 inches of brick on a foundation of broken stone 6 inches deep rolling and a cushion coat of sand 1 inches deep.

By Hazzard.

Resolved (I. 1.) That the sidewalks on the east side of Lafayette street from Jefferson to Hayden street, be graded to a width of 10 feet and paved with brick to a width of 8 feet.

By Petit.

Resolved, (I. 1.) That the sidewalks on the east side of Broadway from Dewald street to Creighton avenue be graded to a width of 10 feet and relay the brick sidewalks to a width of 5 feet.

RESOLUTION.

Be it resolved, by the common council of the city of Fort Wayne, two-thirds of all the members thereof concurring, that the mayor appoint a special committee of five members of this council who shall jointly and together, with the city civil engineer, make an estimate of the lots and lands benefitted by the construction of a 15-inch clay pipe sewer in the alley between Wayne street and Washington street, from the brick sewer in the alley between Clinton street and Wabash avenue, to Harmar avenue, by this council heretofore ordered to be constructed and is now being constructed, together with such amounts as may be deemed just and equitable and to be assessed against such lots and lands, reducing a reasonable percentage to secure the prompt payment for the same.

P. J. SCHEID.

Which resolution was on motion adopted by the following vote:

AYES, 18, viz: Councilmen Buck, Devilbiss, Eggemann, Fox, Hanna, Kelker, Keller, Mc-Donald, Meyer, Petit, Scheid, Scherer, Oakley, Petit, Scheid, Scherer, Skelton and Wolf.

NAYS, none.

And the committee on sewers and councilman Eggemann and Hanna appointed.

ORDERS.

How a Reporter and General Sherman Became Friends.

A reporter was sent at the last moment to write up an important theatrical performance in New York. He hurried to the theater, but did not arrive until after the play began. In getting to his seat he was guilty of a disturb General Sherman, who with a lady, occupied seats next to the aisle. The reporter bogged the general's pardon, but the old soldier was evidently annoyed.

He said nothing, however, relates the Youth's Companion, until after the curtain had fallen on the first act. Then he leaned over toward the reporter and said:

"Young man, you ought to know that it is a great annoyance to be forced to stand up on the first appearance while the play is in progress. You should either get your seat before the curtain rises or stay away from the theater."

The reporter flushed and answered quickly:

"General, I am a newspaper man. I was ordered to come to this theater and I did not understand. You are perfectly in the right, sir. Always obey orders. Obey orders if you have to make a whole theater full of people get up and stand on their feet for an hour."

Then the general held out his hand and shook the reporter's heartily. They met several times after that, and the distinguished warrior always had a smile and a pleasant greeting for the reporter who "obeyed orders."

And It Stays In.

"How is that little mining scheme of yours getting along? Any money in it?"

"Any money in it! Well, I should say so! All of mine, all of my wife's, and about $8,000 that I got from my friends."—Yankee Blade.

LIKE THE CATACOMBS.

St. Louis has quite a number of Mammoth caves of her own, announces the Globe-Democrat, and, while not furnished with stalactites stalagmites and dark lakes filled with eyeless fish, they merit far more attention than they have received. Some portions of the city are literally honey-combed with large, cool rock-walled caverns, situated at a distance of twenty-five to forty feet from the surface, all carved out by men. They consist of long arched passages, with well cemented floors, and contain from twenty to thirty feet in height, as many broad, and in many instances extending under entire blocks. Many of these mighty caverns, which resemble in some respects the famed catacombs, were constructed half a century ago, and that so solidly that if left undisturbed will outlast the Chinese wall and Roman aqueducts. They belong to bygone times, and in many instances their very existence has been forgotten. Many a costly business block and palatial residence is reared above caverns of whose existence the occupants are profoundly ignorant.

In some of these mighty subterranean halls will be revels were held when present patriarchs of St. Louis were giddy youths. In some of these gigantic chambers over cool, open-air dog days, grand balls were held, and the granite walls resounded to strains of music and the laughter of merry maidens, while hundreds of light feet tripped it over those smooth, hard floors. In those long corridors the story old as our primal parents, yet ever strangely new and sweet, has been oft told. For beneath where electric cars now rush to and fro many a St. Louis maid was wooed and won, a few were wed, and if tradition be not astray, several found a fate worse than death or were stricken at that fatal, downward road, whose goal is far, far beneath those subterranean halls. Banquets were spread in those grand, to-chambers, speeches were made, toasts were given and songs were sung.

Millions upon millions of dollars' worth of merchandise has been piled up in these caverns and thence by pack-mules toiled year after year in their depths. But they are for the most part silent enough now, deserted, given over to solitude.

Solitude, indeed, they are visited by the venturesome small boy or made the hiding-place of criminals, and good hiding-places they are. A malefactor who can effect an entrance into one of those deserted graves might lurk there unsuspected until he succumbed to the dampness or died of bitter solitude.

Even if discovered, it would be no easy matter to capture him were he well acquainted with all the multitudinous windings of this subterranean abode.

It is said that men have been decoyed into some of those local cimmerias and robbed, even murdered, and their bodies long dragged into them and held at the mercy of their brutish captors for days, while the policeman paraded his beat and the great tide of humanity ebbed and flowed not a dozen yards away. There is a tradition that in one of those half-forgotten caves not long ago two St. Louis exquisites fought with rapiers by the torch's red glare for a lady fair, and that one was wounded; also that two gamblers repaired thither one winter's night, unattended, to settle a feud, and fired a dozen shots in the darkness, each firing at the flash of his opponent's pistol, but without effect. Cooking utensils and broken glass bottles have in some of frequent occurrence in one of these old caverns until the owner of the premises a goodly man, discovered it and walled up the entrance.

For what were these subterranean chambers constructed with such infinite toil? Were they the rendevous of a mighty band of robbers who in those old congregate in days gone by, obtaining entrance by means of a mystic open sesame!—the dungeons of some great bastile, long since swept away and forgotten of men? Oh, Romance, hide thy dejected head! They were made by patient Germans for the cool storage of lager beer.

St. Louis has long been a city of breweries, and before the days of artificial ice-making and cold storage warehouses it was necessary to place the foaming beverage in some place of the coolest, where it might be kept cool until it ripened or was required for summer consumption. Hence these mighty excavations that have now passed into practicality. It is estimated that of the breweries antedating surface cold storage there were some forty or fifty in St. Louis, and all of them provided with sub-cellars of greater or less extent, many of which long since passed out of use and were forgotten.

What He Should Do.

A recruit of a Highland regiment which was stationed at Malta went out to see the town the first night he joined and remained absent. He was brought before the commanding officer, a Highland gentleman of the old school, and, much embarrassed, said:

"This is a verra fine thing, I-Indeed, tae be absent the verra first nicht you join the corps."

"Stop, sir," said Lindsay, "but I lost myself in the streets of the capital, and could not get back in time."

"All tak' yer excuse," said the officer, "but yo mun mind that ye'll hae tae bide in barracks till yo ken the toon."—Dundee News.

Burmah's Caves.

The question has been raised whether the numerous limestone caves in British Burmah have been explored for archæological remains. Many of these caves were known to have been used by the Buddhists of former generations, and it has also been found in them, and it is probable they were in habited by men in the early time.

IN FULL DRESS.

Acrobatic Feats As Now Being Performed in London Society.

The eccentric acrobat appears to be more popular than ever in London. But not present the eccentricity takes the fashionable phase. Languid dowagers and long limbed youths in dress suits pay half a guinea apiece for the orchestra stall, from which to witness the antics of a troupe of male and female tumblers, irreproachably clad in evening dress and tights, the limbs glittering in white tinsel. But instead the men are habited in black, with glossy and well fitting trousers, and the ladies, until they begin their gymnastics, might be in full evening dress.

Such an entertainment would certainly be thought remarkable anywhere except at the Empire theater in Leicester square. But there everything eccentric goes. And there the

These fashionable tumblers call themselves the Frontz family. The women are handsome fellows. They are shapely and sprightly. They wear black satin dresses, cut low at the neck, with skirts reaching to the ankles, long gloves and the usual feminine adornments of flowers and plumes.

It is, therefore, somewhat surprising to see them turning somersaults and going through the usual acrobatic business without the slightest apparent inconvenience and without disarranging dress or ornaments. Suddenly one of the beauties poises herself and one of the men's gymnastic lengthy to her shoulders. Then up to his shoulders, gracefully and without hesitation, goes a second lady, and at a given moment away she goes in a back somersault into her dizzy perch.

But this is nothing to the spectacle of three of these lady gymnasts rolling over and over, holding on to each other's feet and hands, and forming a revolving ball, which flashes gaily under the electric light.

Or to see one of the beauties hopping gracefully on her hands with her feet poised in the air, and supported by the stout arms of one of the male gymnasts, is somewhat disconcerting at first. But it is, after all, the novelty of the exhibition which pleases, and the element of evening dress were eliminated from it is doubtful if half as many persons would flock to see it.

An Inhuman Practice.

A correspondent writes from Calcutta, India, of a most inhuman practice carried on there by the native infantry. A regiment was recently ordered to the jail at Alipore every six months to fire ten rounds of blank ammunition in the direction of the 1,600 convicts confined there. Those unfortunates crouch down in their cells and tremble with fear, expecting every moment to be put to death. It is supposed that the shooting is done to intimidate and prevent the prisoners from attempting to escape. To add to this inhuman practice the lieutenant governor and other officials ride outside the barrack from the roof of the jail.

Malacostraic Six Sixes.

The vicar of Coventry, England, attempted to collect his tithes. The people objected and imprisoned him in a church. He was rescued by his parishioners, when he came out he declared he will enforce to the last penny his tithes.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

Pennsylvania Engineers Ask Legislation in an Important Matter —Home News.

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in the state of Pennsylvania are the originators of a bill which will be introduced at the next assembling of the legislative bodies of that state, the object of which is to regulate the employment of telegraph operators. The recent accident at Harrisburg, on the Pennsylvania roads, has brought the matter more prominently to the front. Among the provisions of the bill are that the operators employed on railroads in the state shall have at least one year's experience, shall not be under twenty-one years of age, and where block signals are used, before securing a position, they must first become familiar with the system. Without question the employment of more experienced and matured operations is desirable and would lessen the liability to accident. That too many incompetent men are employed in such positions is evident, and results from the desire of railway managers to cut down expenses in this department, but, in the long run, the mistakes of the incompetent operator cost the company more than would command the best operators. An inexperienced, incompetent operator can, with a few clicks of his telegraph instrument, cause a loss of life and property which will pay all the operators on the line their yearly salary. The steps the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are taking will doubtless be most effectual that have been the efforts of the Order of Railway Telegraphers to weed out incompetent operators.

A GENEROUS OFFER.

The particulars of the wreck of the Wabash train at Kentner, which caused the death of five men, among them our late fellow townsman, Engineer Shorey, is fresh in the memory of THE SENTINEL readers, but there is one matter connected with the sad affair which is not generally known. A few days after the accident the claim agent of the company sent word to the family of each of the men killed that while the company did not regard itself as being in the least liable for any damages growing out of that accident, yet it was willing to give to each family the sum of $2,000—making no distinction between them whatever. They were not to be asked to sign any iron-clad receipts or anything of the kind. The company offered this sum as a slight recompense for the misfortune that had come upon them through no fault of the corporation; for the reports of Mr. Dunlap, one of the men killed, show that only a few days before the wreck occurred, he had inspected the culvert, and in writing stated that it was safe and in first class condition. The company, in its offer, made no distinction whatever on account of the position held by the persons killed. All were to be paid the same sum, the position taken being that one man's life was of as much importance to his family as that of another.

MINOR MENTION.

F. V. Davis, a fireman on the Nickel Plate, is off duty on account of sickness.

Mrs. Frank Gillett, wife of the Nickel Plate engineer, is here on a visit from Bellevue, Ohio.

John McCarthy, of the Pittsburg car shop, resumed work this morning after a few days' illness.

Henry Carberry, John Welch and Michael McVeigh, of the Nickel Plate round house, are sick.

Mat Crawford, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, was taken ill this morning and had to return home.

Amos Young and Joseph Andrews have taken positions as laborers in the Nickel Plate round house.

Nickel Plate Conductor Phipps has been granted a vacation, which he will spend in Chicago with friends.

Thomas Rodd, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania lines, returned to Pittsburg on the limited last evening.

Fred Bierbaum, the Nickel Plate car repairer, who was overcome by heat a few days ago, is still critically ill.

The Pullman company next week will have on every car it owns in service, on account of the Colorado excursions.

One of the Nickle Plate gravel trains has been taken off the road. The train crew will resume its through freight run.

Jesse Klinkenberger, a member of the millwright gang in the Pittsburg shops, has a bright baby boy at his home. Jesse is happy.

Tomorrow the citizens of Lafayette vote on a proposition to give the Monon company a bonus for locating their railway shops in that city. The shops will give employment to 600.

George Litot, who has been sick for the past two weeks, reported for duty at the factory of Rhinesmith & Simonson this morning.

The men employed in the tank department of the Pittsburg shops are attending the funeral of Mrs. Ed Leach, late wife of their fellow workman, this afternoon.

J. C. M. Baker, ticket receiver for the Pennsylvania company, is preparing to build a handsome house on South Calhoun street. He will occupy it when completed.

Engineer John McFerron, of the Nickel Plate, is the papa of a bouncing boy baby. Cigars will come later when the fond father has had time to recover his normal state of mind.

Clay has been struck at the Arnold gravel pit, on the Nickel Plate, and it is being hauled to that portion of the road near Glasgow avenue, where the bank is being strengthened and widened.

Joseph Werley, who for thirty years was with the Michigan Central road as yardmaster, etc., and who retired a few years ago to farm near Michigan City, died on Monday, aged eighty-two years.

Tomorrow a new ten-wheel freight engine will arrive in the city and go into service on the Nickel Plate. This is the first consignment on an order for ten. The engine comes from the Baldwin works.

There will be three sections of the excursion train tomorrow, instead of two as stated yesterday. The trains will run fifteen minutes apart, the first one leaving here at 7:15. Over 4,000 tickets have been sold.

Andy Huber, of the Pittsburg, has purchased a lot in Lakeside and is now having a handsome cottage erected thereon. Andy is prosperous and he is deservingly so, for there is no more industrious man in the city.

Andrew Weber, foreman of the pattern department in the Pittsburg shops, was at the works this morning for the first time in two months. He has just recovered from a severe illness, during which he lost thirty pounds in weight.

The Fort Wayne Furniture works closed yesterday and Wednesday in respect to the late financier, George W. Fishering. Hereafter the works will only be run three days a week until the present overstock of beds is unloaded.

One of Cook's compound engines brought a Pittsburg passenger train down from Chicago at noon today. The engine attracted a great deal of attention at the depot. A. H. Polhamus, the road foreman of engineers, came in on the engine.

The Pittsburg Shopmen's fire department made an exhibition run this morning. The men ran from Clay to Lafayette street, attached the hose and had water flying in just three minutes. In the run the car shop boys outstripped the blacksmith boys several minutes.

William Bendurn and Scott Tilbury, of the Fort Wayne Furniture works, have applied for a patent on a sled attachment to a baby buggy. The invention promises to be a bonanza to the inventors, who will probably start an establishment in this city for the manufacture of the sleds.

Pittsburgh passenger coach No. 81 is now being equipped for a color-blind car. The examination of the men on the western division will commence tomorrow and continue about six weeks. The examinations are very rigid, and some trainmen may expect to find that they are deficient in some tests.

A rare accident happened to a passenger engine on the Big Four road Tuesday night. While the engine was spinning along at the rate of fifty miles an hour both side rods broke simultaneously. The cab was knocked to pieces and the fireman, Frank Moore, was fatally injured, but the engineer escaped with a few slight scratches.

The latest cutting of rates is by the Houston and Texas Central, which meets the Santa Fe rate for a colored excursion from Dallas, Forth Worth and other points, and guarantees to each purchaser of a ticket one watermelon in good condition. The Santa Fe first put on a $5 rate from Houston to Galveston. The Central reduced to $2.50, and this the Santa Fe met, which caused the Central to throw in the melons.

A new railway will, in all probability, traverse Indiana diagonally from southeast to northwest. For twenty years a line running from Chicago to Cincinnati has existed on paper and it now promises to be a happy consummation. The proposed road passes through Peru, Marion and Muncie. The enterprise has sufficient capital back of it to ensure its success, and preliminary steps towards the construction of the road are now under way.

The news of the death of Albert Schoenbein, mention of which is made in another column, was received with deep sorrow by the employes of the Fort Wayne shops. Mr. Schoenbein was held in the highest esteem by the shopmen here, with whom he was associated for so many years. Master Car Builder Graham was a pupil of the deceased and his first lessons in draughting were under Mr. Schoenbein's efficient instructions.

TIME AND LOVE.

Sly old Time took little Cupid,
Tied a kerchief o'er his eyes;
Turned him round, exclaiming: "Stupid,
Tell me where your true love lies!"
Long as moons shall shine above,
Time will play his tricks on Love.

Cupid, of his power reminded,
Showed old Time what he could do;
And, that though his eyes were blinded,
Yet his heart would guide him true.
Long as sun the heavens shall rove,
Love will foil the trick of Time.
—The Academy.

IN SPITE OF HIMSELF.

Here's the man that'll show us how to do it! Come along, Lawrie, old fellow; you're just in time. We're trying this mare's paces, and you're the boy to show us what she can do. Up with you, and give us a touch of Maxeppa!"

Thus shouted a group of ruddy, stalwart young fellows of unmistakably sporting appearances, who were assembled in the stable yard of an old country house in one of the southwestern counties.

Squire Merrifield, their host, had just bought a high-spirited young sorrel mare, as skittish and full of tricks as any filly, which had been very appropriately named "Coquette" by her new master. Her name had formerly been "Nightmare," but to this the squire strongly objected, arguing with some show of reason that a nightmare could not be taken off by anybody, whereas a mare shoot off everybody.

This last statement was certainly no more than the truth. Somehow or other, Coquette and her rider (whoever he might be) were pretty sure to part company before they had been very long together; and among her many victims was her late owner himself, who rescuing the broken head which he owed to her capriciousness, had got rid of her immediately after his mishap.

The same ill success had just attended one of the young Nimrods who had gathered around Coquette in the stable yard of Fairview hall. Being a very fair horseman, he had backed himself to keep his saddle in spite of all that the mare could do to unseat him; but he soon found out that he had met his match. After a hard struggle, Coquette had the best of it, and Fred Fanshawe was laid sprawling on his back in the dust, from which he had just arisen when a fresh actor appeared on the scene.

This new comer was the "Lawrie" so vociferously greeted by the assembled sportsmen, to all of whom he seemed well known—a slim, handsome, well-dressed, rather effeminate-looking young fellow of two-and-twenty.

In spite of his slender frame and somewhat foppish appearance, Lawrence Berkeley was a fair pedestrian, a good shot, and something of a gymnast as well; and he had contrived to persuade himself that he was a good rider into the bargain. But his horsemanship was merely on the watch for a chance of getting some fun out of it. Such a chance as this, though, was now offered to them, and they lost no time in turning it to account.

"Come along, Berkeley!" cried one. "This fellow Fanshawe seems to think that nobody knows anything about riding except himself; but you'll show him a trick or two won't you, old boy?"

"Be merciful to the poor beast, though," laughed another; "and don't run it right through with those spurs of yours. By Jove! they're big enough to roast a goose on!"

This last morsel of "chaff" was not wholly undeserved. Lawrence Berkeley always arrayed himself in the most ultra sporting style as if with a vague hope that his boots, hat and cap and his irreproachable "tops" might refuse the art of riding into him by some innate virtue of their own. But on this particular occasion his "get-up" was smarter than ever, and he had supplemented it with a pair of enormous Mexican spurs, at least twice as large as any worn in England, which their wearer (who was a friend for whose sporting knowledge our hero had a great respect) had mischievously persuaded him to buy.

Now it must be noted that one of the most objectionable habits of this formidable mare was a way which she had of suddenly assuming a meek and gentle air, and putting herself in an attitude of perfect obedience so naturally as to deceive any one save an experienced jockey.

This was just what she did now; and thus, as Berkeley had not come up in time to witness her summary disposal of Fred Fanshawe, all that he saw was a seemingly quiet and well-trained animal, which his friends were inviting him to ride. Such an opportunity of making (as he thought) a safe and easy display of the horsemanship which he supposed himself to possess was just to his mind; and in a twinkling he had sprung into the saddle and seized the reins.

For a moment the capricious animal remained perfectly motionless as if unconscious of her rider's existence; for what made her pranks doubly dangerous was that she never gave the slightest warning of them before they came. And then (as a young Irish groom remarked with a grin) "the fun began in earnest."

In an instant all four feet of the sorrel were off the ground, and there followed a series of capers such as none of the spectators had ever seen before. She reared up on her hind legs till every one thought she must fall backward and crush her rider beneath her. She put her head down between her fore legs and lashed out behind till she made all the lookers on jump aside like galvanized frogs. She went through a series of "back-jumps" worthy of a genuine Australian and performed a half a dozen antics, one worse than another; which—as one of the spectators admiringly remarked—"would have taken the shine out of a drunken grasshopper."

But, to the unbounded amazement of all who were aware of Berkeley's lack of horsemanship, and the great admiration of those who were not, our hero kept his seat in defiance of all these wild gambols as firmly as if (like Baron Munchausen's laurel bush) he had taken root in the horse's back.

Nothing that the sorrel could do availed to shake him in the least; and Fred Fanshawe stared astounded (as well he might) to see the beast that had thrown him mastered by a man whom he had never credited with being able to ride at all.

Berkeley's resistance seemed to infuriate the spirited mare, which grew more and more violent every moment. But for this, as well as for Lawrence's wonderful success in keeping his seat, there was a very good reason.

Our hero's long limbs, grasping closely the sides of his steed, had hooked the curved ends of his huge spurs into each other in such a way as to hold him on as firmly as if he had been strapped to the saddle.

Naturally enough the consequent pressure of the spurs against her flanks goaded the spirited mare to fury; and in her rage at finding herself unable to get rid of her tormentor, she suddenly made a frantic dash through the gate and tore away madly over the open country beyond.

"By Jove! he'll be killed as sure as a gun!" cried Fred Fanshawe, glancing after him with a look of dismay.

"We must follow him at once!" shouted another man. "Come along, sharp!"

And in a trice they were all mounted, and dashing at full speed after their luckless comrade, who was indeed leading them a fine "Will o' the Wisp" chase through swamp and stream" like the spectre horse of the old ballad; and Lawrence, unable to free himself, and knowing that he must certainly break a limb if the mare were to fall with him, did not on my life quite see much as he might have done.

He was not long in doing so, however, for a stumble or two in the rough ground, and a fall over a fence which he could not escape in time, would leave him also, or the rest of his life, to the after task an unexpected one.

Coquette had rushed recklessly into a patch of deep and boggy ground, the soft clinging mire of which (wherein she sank almost up to her haunches) effectually checked her speed; and by the time she had struggled through it she was glad enough to stand still.

In the meantime Lawrence had at length succeeded in unclenching by a desperate effort his interlocked spur wheels, thus relieving the mare from their irritating pressure; and then, finding that his fiery, untamed steed was pretty thoroughly tamed for the time being, he rode back towards the ball at a leisurely pace. But he was barely half way thither when a hand shot made him turn his head, and he saw coming up at a rapid rate the whole party of his friends, who delighted at finding him still alive and unhurt, surrounded him with shouts of boisterous welcome, and praised him up to the skies for his skill and courage, having no suspicion whatever of the real truth.

The most singular part of the whole story, however, was that this rough experience actually made a horseman of Lawrence Berkeley after all. What with the scarce given him by his portious ride, and what with his wish to sustain the credit which his mastery of the redoubtable Coquette had conferred on him, he soon effectually applied himself with such energy to the improving of his horsemanship that he eventually became quite as good a rider as any of those who had formerly laughed at him.—Saturday Evening Post.

He Was a Bowery Boy.

He was an old man with long white whiskers, says the New York Commercial Advertiser, and he registered at a Bowery hotel as "James Murphy, St. Louis." "I've made up my mind to go out west and have come back to see the home of my childhood," he explained, "for I am an old Bowery boy." Then he expressed a desire to go out and see the sights, and the hotel clerk advised him to leave his valuables behind, but he rejected the idea with scorn. "Didn't I tell you I was an old Bowery boy," he remarked. "Nobody would stack up against me. Good-by; I'm going around to hunt up old friends." He was gone just five minutes, and when he returned with a black eye and a sad expression on his face. "Say," he whispered to the clerk. "I only got a look at the corner when a fellow grabbed my watch and the only $10 bill I have in the world." "But," retorted the clerk maliciously, "were you not—" "No," confessed the old man frankly, "I'd never been here before. I live in Yonkers and wanted to make a big bluff. Well, I made it and lost. Send a boll-boy with me to my room, please, for that no one steals my hat as I go through the hall."

Take Good Care of the Children.

If you have children, you will be interested in the experience of Mr. John Cook, of Plain, Vermillion, Ill. He says: "Two years ago two of my family, a young man and a girl, had very severe and dangerous attacks of bloody flux. The doctor here was unable, after a week's time, to check or relieve either case. I threw the doctor overboard and began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Improvement was seen very soon, and my children arose in a few days from what I feared would be their deathbed. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by druggists.

The town of Washington needs a sanitary overhauling.

"Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup"

Simple Method of Removing Wrinkles.

It is easier to remove wrinkles than to eradicate any other defect of the face, and yet we daily see many faces, otherwise beautiful, rendered prematurely old by that shrinkage of the tissue we call wrinkles. A simple, but positive, treatment is Marguardt's Rose Cream, which not only disperses wrinkles speedily but also removes pimples, blotches, eruptions, and lends an exquisite glow and transparency to the complexion. For sale by Meyer Bros. & Co., 9 West Columbia street.

DENVER, COLORADO.
The Wabash Will be the Best Route—
No Excursion Trains—All Passengers Sent Through on Regular Fast Express Trains, Thus Avoiding Tedious Delays, Etc.

On August 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 the Wabash line will sell round trip tickets to Denver, account of Knights Templar conclave, at rates that will be the lowest ever made from Fort Wayne and adjacent territory. All tickets sold on the above dates will be good for return passage until October 11th, 1892. The Wabash is the people's favorite route. It is the only line that runs superb reclining chair cars through to Kansas City without change. Pullman buffett sleeping cars on all through trains and no waits or detentions en route. The Chicago Herald of July 22nd says: "More persons from Chicago alone will leave for Colorado points than all the railroads out of this city can carry." Take heed and avoid the big crowds by using the Wabash line for Colorado points.

A SPECIAL DENVER SLEEPER.

On Saturday, August 6th, a special Pullman sleeper will leave Fort Wayne at 1:40 p. m. on the Wabash Cannon Ball train for Denver without change, and will arrive at its destination Monday, Aug. 8th, at 7:2 a. m. A limited number of tickets have been allotted Fort Wayne, and to all who desire to take this magnificent trip and occupy the Denver sleeper, it is desired that application be made at once for space, as first come first served. Full particulars given by applying to the Wabash Depot Ticket Office, or by letter to R. J. Thompson, Pass. and Ticket Agent, Fort Wayne, Ind. 23-tf

Fivefold Time Change Excursions to Manitou City Via Pennsylvania Lines.

Miss May Haynes, teacher at the International Business college, is confined to her boarding place on Breckenridge street. A few days ago she attended a picnic in the woods and had her hand poisoned. This member alone did not suffer. The poison has reached her face and her eyes are swollen shut, she being in much pain.

The local stockholders of the Indiana Mining company held a meeting in D. C. Fisher's office, yesterday afternoon. The purpose was to prepare for an excursion to the mines in the west. Superintendent Brent, of Butte City, Mont., was present and explained the location and yield of the mine. The party will leave the latter part of next week.

Rome City correspondence: "J. C. Peters and family, of Fort Wayne, have come to stay. They now occupy their cottage and will remain until fall.—St. John's Lutheran church, of Fort Wayne, Ind., last Thursday dropped off at this place five coaches of good looking people who seemed to enjoy themselves picknicking here on the shores of our beautiful lake."

At Library hall the Emmett club held its regular business meeting, and at its close had a debate upon the pertinent subject: "Resolved, that the invention of machinery is detrimental to the laboring classes." Thomas Bresnihan and James Duffy contended for the affimative, while D. J. McKendry and Louis Hudry successfully maintained the negative of the question.

Yesterday afternoon Will M. McKinnie, the popular host of the Wayne hotel, purchased the large brick residence, 164 West Berry street, paying for the same $7,000. The property, which is the east twenty-five feet of lot 10 and the west twenty-five feet of lot 11, block 16, Ewing's addition, has for the past few years been the property of the G. W. Long estate. Mrs. Anna R. Long disposes of the property, receiving a very handsome price. Mr. McKinnie will have the residence handsomely improved for his own occupancy.

Mrs. J. B. Reuss and family are at Rome City.

A branch of the American Protective association has been organized in this city.

The Sons of Columbus will hold a meeting and initiate two new members tonight, besides making final arrangements for an excursion to Rome City, and a celebration of the discovery of America.

The Garrett correspondent of the Kendallville News says: "Misses Anna and Minnie Zigler, who have been attending the Catholic convent at Fort Wayne, were home for a short vacation last week."

This morning Drs. M. F. Porter and Carl Schilling held a consultation over Mrs. Henry Hoevel, who lives three miles out on the New Haven road. The lady is suffering with blood poison and her condition is regarded as critical.

Miss Ethel, the daughter of Dr. Charles Eckert, of Marion, Ind., is lying ill with diphtheria at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Currier, No. 332 East Wayne street. Dr. M. F. Porter is attending the young lady.

There are a number of dogs running around with the muzzles hanging loose under the chins. The owners of these dogs will please remember, if the pets are shot by the officers, that they were trying to evade the law requiring dogs to be muzzled, instead of obeying it.

A letter from the Fort Wayneites in Rome City states that it is cool and pleasant there and that they are all well pleased. It says that the fishermen are in great luck. One young man went out and caught forty-four fish before breakfast yesterday morning, and another gentleman took sixty into camp.

Mr. Ben Miller, the popular young gunsmith, will next week chaperone a party of fishermen up the St. Joe river for a week's enjoyment in nature's sports. As there are some old hunters and trappers in the party we would advise all to be on their guard as a fresh supply of fish stories will be the order when they return.

The Toledo Bee says: "The tent meetings being conducted by Evangelist Updike, are being well attended, and although there is not so much enthusiasm exhibited as could be wished for, still the terrible heat is probably the only cause. Last night the sermon was on the second coming of Christ, and was handled by Rev. Updyke in a style that could hardly fail of deeply impressing, if not absolutely convincing his audience."

Rev. M. C. Cooper, pastor of the Moreland M. E. church, Chicago, and his wife, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brown, of Walton avenue. Rev. Cooper will be remembered as a former popular pastor of Simpson and St. Paul's M. E. churches in this city. Pastor Cooper is making strides forward in the theological field, and has a bright future. The action of his congregation in voting him a month's vacation is but a small illustration of the esteem in which they hold him.

While returning from the country with a load of hay yesterday, A. Brase, the West Jefferson street truckman, came near getting badly burned. He had just crossed the river bridge near Reidmiller's hill, when he lighted his pipe, throwing the match heedlessly into the hay. A moment later and the outfit was seen going at breakneck speed toward the river. Down the steep embankment into the river went horses, burning hay, wagon and driver. Strange to say, neither man nor horses were injured.

Mrs. Dr. Mary A. Whery suffered a severe sunstroke yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock while working over flower beds in the yard of her residence on Madison street. She suddenly felt herself losing consciousness and made a feeble call for assistance before she became unconscious. Her husband, Dr. Whery, being absent at the time, Dr. McCausland was summoned and found the lady in a serious condition. After hours of constant work, Dr. Whery, who had arrived in the meantime, succeeded in putting his wife out of danger.

Those who attended the picnic given by the Misses Beaber and Young, at Williams' grove, yesterday, unite in praising the young ladies for the manner in which they successfully carried out their plans for the afternoon. As a majority of those present were up to the time of the party renowned (?) as speakers, recitations from Shakespeare and impersonations by J. O. O'Conner were ordered continually, and when the bonny sun sank to rest a tempting lunch was spread under the trees, of which all partook copiously. Among those present were noticed the following eminent lights in the financial world: Messrs. Hausman, Tramer, Urbans, Buck, Conover, Jardien, Hurley, Dallman, Hopkins, Cohen and Culbertson. In the social world: The Misses Louise Heller, Cora Conover, Hattie Dyche, Emily Harding, Nellie Buck, Elsie Johnson, Lois Young, Puss Keel, Laura Muirkead, Daisy Beaber and the Misses Alderman, Nilson, Jeness and Doty.

Mrs. R. T. McDonald will go to Detroit this evening.

L. S. Kinnaird, of Master Mechanic Potter's office, returned from a tour of the west today.

Miss Boone, of New York city, who was visiting friends in this city, took the Wabash for her home last evening.

W. C. Cooper, secretary of the Plymouth institute, of Warsaw, Ind., went north on the Grand Rapids road at noon today.

Herman Tuttle, of the east yards, had his finger mashed last night while making a coupling, and he was conveyed to his boarding house, 46 Oliver street.

Miss Maggie Fay, of Chicago, and Miss Mollie Gilbert, of Peru, Ind., who have been the guests of Miss Maggie Hilley, of Lafayette, Ohio, has returned home.

Mrs. Jesse R. Straughan, wife of the civil engineer, of 87 East Berry street, is recovering from an attack of heart trouble. Dr. Chambers is the attending physician.

Mrs. Laughlin, of 48 Brackenridge street, recently moved here from St. Louis, is under Dr. Chambers care for treatment for heart trouble. The lady is now able to go about the house.

Dr. Chambers is in receipt of a letter from Rev. Boggs, of the Third Presbyterian church. The minister and his family are at Douglass. Mich., spending a vacation. They are in good health and are having a pleasant time.

Miss McCracken, one of the delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention at New York, returned home today. The Misses Emma and Lena McElfatrick, also delegates, are now in Washington and will not return home until August 15.

A DAY OFF.

Under the heading of "Pencil Pushers" the Toledo Bee has the following to say regarding the Fort Wayne newspaper men who spent yesterday at Put-in-Bay: "A party of newspaper men from Fort Wayne, Ind., arrived in the city this morning over the Wabash road and took the City of Toledo for Put-in-Bay, where they are spending the day as the guests of the Hotel Victory. The party was composed as follows: A. J. Moynihan, editor and proprietor of the Journal; O. E. Mohler, managing editor of the Gazette; Frank Dildine, managing editor of THE EVENING SENTINEL; John O. Seya, of the Press; Gart Shober, of the Times; John Garvey, of the News; Postmaster C. B. Higgins and R. G. Thomson, the passenger agent of the Wabash railroad at Fort Wayne. The day off is given the newspaper boys by Passenger Agent Thompson, who pays the bills and gives his guests a royal time. The party return this evening and will at once leave for their homes at Fort Wayne."

YOU WILL BE PLEASED.

The Theatrical Season Will Commence Well.

The opening event of the Masonic Temple Thursday evening, August 4, will be of unusual interest from the fact that the attraction is of a sterling character. No farce comedy company "upon the road" this season will contain so many artists whose individual reputation would be alone sufficient to assure the public entertainment. It is seldom that Fort Wayne theatre goers will have an opportunity (as they will in "Eloped With a Circus Girl,") to see an all star cast composed of such reputable performers as Newton Beers, Miss Mollie Thompson, late of the Hustler company; Thomas Grachy, the popular comedian with the Dazzler company; Miss Marion Clifton, formerly with Booth & Barrett, and a dozen other well known people, whose services command large salaries.

Notice to Water Consumers.

Notice is hereby given that, owing to the extreme heat, a great deal of water is used and wasted; this waste is so great that the pumping capacity is insufficient to supply the demand, and consumers should, under existing circumstances, use water with economy and not allow this waste to continue, as it might result disastrously.

Upon the completion of the reservoir the pressure will be equal at all times and the machinery can work steadily, thus obviating the above difficulty. Respectfully,

Points and Pointers

One day a gentleman was passing by a gentlemen's furnishing goods store—not a men's furnishing goods store, do you mind, but a Gentlemen's furnishing goods store—in the plate-glass window of which he saw displayed a carefully arranged lot of handsome outing shirts.

"Those are neat," said the pedestrian, mentally, and he went inside, where, after viewing the shirts at his leisure, he told the gentlemanly gentlemen's furnishing goods man that he might tie up the one with the fine blue stripe, the olive-colored one and the one with the suggestion of pink in it.

"Now," said the man, "I'll see if I can keep cool. How much do you want?"

"Ten dollars and a half," was the reply, and the man got hot. It would make any man hot to have to pay three dollars and a half for a regular two-dollar article.

What you want to do is to casually ask the price in these little stores, and then come over here for your shirts. Let us get the drop on you.

A successful business man says that one of the helpful rules he learned from his father was to have "a place for everything."

This is one of the open secrets of our success. You can get anything from a white lawn tie to a full dress suit at our store. It is the place for everything. We don't expect the profits on a couple of boxes of flannel shirts, and a variegated dozen of soft hats, and a few pretty sashes to pay our running expenses for the entire heated term.

We know that cost is not the first consideration in the purchase of outing goods. With some, we fear, it is not taken into account at all. Before all things, a young fellow who gets himself up in a summer costume wants to look killing. He isn't after the lowest prices so much. It's kind of a holiday business with him, and he pays fifty per cent. too much for his outfit as cheerfully as the man at the circus pays fifty per cent. too much for lemonade. Gorl darn the expense when you are out for fun. But what is the use of being so reckless?

We'll hit your fancy in summer togs—we've got a big stock, and what you save by buying here you stuff in your little watch pocket and think no more about it until the first flush of excitement has passed away and you begin to realize that you won't be flush again till Fall. Then is the time when a little wad of crumpled money opens out large and smiles in your face like morning sunshine.

It is well, sometimes, to look toward the future and not think of the present alone; but if you will look at the present, why not save money as we suggest? That is as good as a present.

Sam, Pete & Max.
